

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A digital copier configured to host an external output device is provided. An image processing system comprising an external output device and a host device configured to selectively pass image data to an integrated output device and the external output device is also provided. The output path of the image processing system is based upon at least one output characteristic.

N:\2858\5518\pat.app.doc 06/16/03